BSJ's Deep Learning Celebration Program's Album

A Review on Deep Learning Celebration Program - 2025

I sincerely appreciate our respected Principal for introducing the wonderful idea of arranging exhibitions according to subjects. This creative way of expression provided us with an exciting platform to showcase students' talent, explore knowledge in new ways, and learn beyond the classroom.

It was held on August 28th and 31st, 2025, with well-organized and joyful learning experience. The young learners presented their work with great enthusiasm, and every corner was filled with creativity and colour. The interesting points are as follows:

- I admire the creative idea from our little learners
- I felt proud to see the growing talents of junior learners

Drawback points :

- The exhibition needed more space to be displayed properly.

Guidelines for a successful exhibition :

- If I'm assigned then I may arrange the display subject-wise or theme-wise for easy viewing and having maximum impact.

Arrangement for the senior section:

- It was very thoughtful and professional. Each subject had a well-organized. The event provided an excellent learning experience.

MY project :

- Microscopic world (Biology): I took a colour picture and labelled the parts clearly for easy understanding. I explained in full about tiny organisms and cells.
- Compound model (chemistry): I made this project with clay. I explained what a compound is in simple words, how elements combine chemically in a fixed ratio.
- Electric circuit (physics): I made a simple electric circuit using a bulb and a fan. I explained how it works, and it is a series connection.

Interesting point:

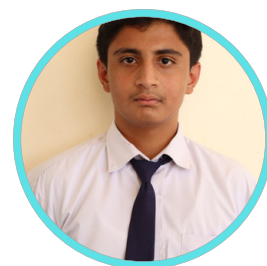

- Little learners asked questions and interacted with our projects.
- The projects reflected detailed.
- We all enjoyed the exhibition together.

Draw back point :

- Some children felt nervous while explaining their work

Guidelines for a successful exhibition :

- Need to encourage the student to prepare in advance for an explanation and practice a presentation.
- Sincerely thank our respected principal for arranging such a wonderful exhibition. Your vision and guidance continue to inspire both teachers and students. Thank you for motivating us to grow and make learning a truly joyful experience.

Parents Meeting and their Feedback

Parents Meeting held on September 29th , 2025

My children's experiences at the Bangladesh School Jalan (BSJ) have been truly rewarding. As a Muslim parent, I find it a much better environment for nurturing with both education and values. The school follows the internationally accredited British curriculum, which opens doors for global opportunities and higher studies abroad. One of the best things about the BSJ is its cultural diversity, with students from many backgrounds, including Bangladesh, Pakistan, India, and Sri Lanka.

It's really contributing a lot to creating an atmosphere of mutual understanding and respect. We also look forward to seeing continued improvement in the recruitment of qualified teachers under fair and firm leadership. Recently introduced AS-Levels at BSJ, which looks very promising future.

Mr. Md. Aleem
Parent from Pakistan

Dear, Principal Sir, Rael Mam and all the teachers of Bangladesh School Jalan,

It was an amazing experience for Yuvein and us, his parents to be with you for two and a half years.

We would like to appreciate your education style, attention to all the students, and kind and open approach towards kids. It particularly helped our son to build up his knowledge, attitudes and confidence. It was a great opportunity for him to work with students from various countries as one family.

We would like to thank you all for the immense support you all provided to my child in his blooming period, as good pre-school education would be the best thing that a child can have to continue his education with a happy and confident manner.

We wish all you the best, to continue the good work, and to develop as a leading school in Sultanate of Oman.

The Art of Diplomacy and Political Power

Miraz Amin
Class - X

Diplomacy is more than peaceful talk while it's a political strategy used by leaders to protect a Nation's Foreign Policy and its interests. Behind every diplomatic move, there's often a political agenda .

For example, US President George W. Bush used diplomacy after the Iraq invasion to defend his global image. The invasion was all about the interests of the USA. None of his claims about dangerous weapons or mass destruction were true; rather, were all lies. But with the help of diplomats, he could successfully defend his global image. Another two examples of my homeland, Bangladesh, the founder of the country, Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, used diplomacy to get recognition from other countries during the liberation war of 1971. Subsequently, President Shaheed Ziaur Rahman, with his able diplomatic tactics, has shown the world that Bangladesh is capable of diplomacy.

Do We Own Technology or Does It Own Us?

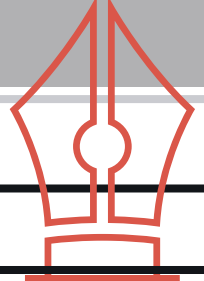

Ashrafur Islam Adil
Class - X

Technology was created to make life easier, but now it often dictates how we think, act, and even feel. We scroll endlessly, respond instantly, and rarely pause. Algorithms are designed to capture our attention, turning us into products rather than users. Though tech connects the world, it can also isolate us from real life.

We lose sleep over screens, and our choices are impacted by invisible AI influence. The more we rely on it, the more control we give away. True ownership means being aware, not being addicted. If we don't question our relationship with technology now, we might slowly become controlled by the very tools of AI. Finally, we become the servants of technology but not the masters.

Mental Health and Society

Saif Bin Jamshed
Class - X

The human being is no longer considered a physical entity only. If so, then humans and other living beings have no difference, which has been evidently proved. Rather inexplicably, it has two other entities, such as mental, spiritual, and intellectual health are often ignored, even though these are very important. Many people struggle silently because they fear being judged. Society needs to understand and support those with mental health issues. Due to spiritual sickness, society is struggling a lot with immorality. Besides, the lack of intellectual disorder humanity's suffering is increasing day by day. Open conversation, kindness, and awareness can help people feel safe and heard. A holistic, healthy human being with a sound mind, empowered with spirituality and intellectuality, creates a better society.

Reflection on Pollution

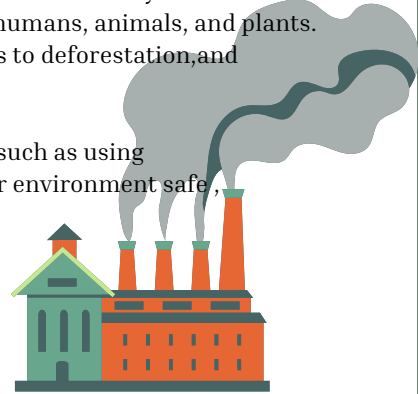

Rubaisha Malik
Class - VI

Do you know what "POLLUTION" is? "Pollution is the contamination of harmful substances on land, in the air, and water."

Pollution in the air is called "Air Pollution". Smoke from vehicles contains poisonous gases or substances like Sulfur and Carbondioxide, which pollute the air.

Air pollution leads to land and water pollution because poisonous gases combine with water to form acids and cause acid rain, and it is absolutely harmful for living things, for example, humans, animals, and plants. It destroys the plants and leads to deforestation, and makes the water acidic.

So, we should avoid activities, such as using excessive vehicles, to make our environment safe, healthy and clean.

How Justice at Every Small Situation Can Lead to a Better Society

Kashaf Malik
Class - X

Justice has many forms; for every different situation, at different decisions we take living in this society.

Loyalty in relations, equality within relations; loyalty, equity, and equality; honesty are qualities of that human make a person be justified. When we live in society, everyone thinks just one thing, may be you or me, or anyone. "Others don't judge good, why should I?; No matter what I do. In such a bad society, my goodness is just like a spot of light in a room of darkness". All of us have had these thoughts at least once, but what if we all start to think, "No matter what they are doing, I will do good". Now each of us will think good and lead to better work, and our society will improve.

We made these buildings stand, but the building couldn't stand itself. In this case, when each of us starts to think about being loyal and justified, then all these could be called loyal.

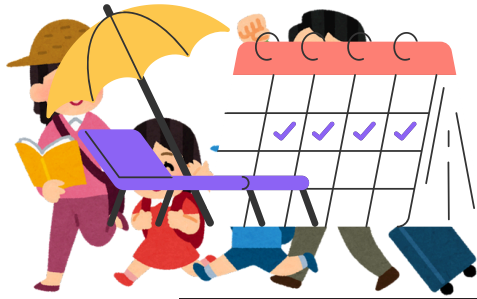

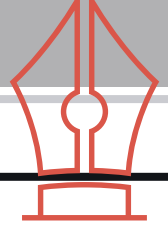

We made these buildings stand, but the building couldn't stand itself. In this case, when each of us starts to think about being loyal and justified, then all these could be called loyal.

Then we could build trust among each other, leading to a better understanding, where we would not be scared of stepping into society. Because we will be united with a strong trust and understanding.

So, now that we are united, no matter how many frauds and fake scamming people exist in this world, we can face and suppress them. Now nobody will think "who trusts me, rumors are more than the truth that exists in this world".

HUMAN AND SURROUNDING ENVIRONMENT

Kenza Shiza Class - VIII

Is human life valuable today?

The complexity of human nature, exploring its capacity for both good and evil or delving into specific aspects like the impact of technology or the role of morality in human behaviour, emotions like love, fear, and anger influence human decisions and actions. The ways technology changes how humans think, behave, and interact with values of life are more like the moral value that one attaches to human life than what most people do by meaning in terms of economic value. Putting an economic tag on the value of human life is considered by many as being in human since life is indeed priceless, but there has to be a trade-off in terms of the limits to resources. Environment means all the natural surroundings, such as land, air, water, plants, animals, sunlight, forests, and other things. A healthy environment maintains nature's balance as well as helps in growing, nourishing, and developing all the living things on the earth. However, nowadays, some man-made technological advancement spoils the environment in many ways, which ultimately disturbs the balance or equilibrium of nature. We are putting our lives in danger as well as the existence of life in the future on this planet. If we do anything in the wrong way outside the discipline of nature, it disturbs the whole environment (atmosphere).

Ahmed Afnan Class - VIII

The existence of the human society is made possible by various relations and interactions between its members. Due to this, for students it is of paramount importance to understand the events that take place in the world, to study historical, sociological, political, and even biological factors of them. This paper will focus on my vacation experiences mainly on this aspect of social life as seen by the authors of the Abraham four essays, which will be analysed in this work. David, Brett Bowden, Annie Dillard, and Steven Johnson are all qualified and widely revered specialists in their fields of study, and their essays and articles prove this if considered attentively and diligently. The environment is everything around us. The environment is made up of all types of biological, non-biological components and events. It includes all types of organisms, rivers, ponds, mountains, and plants, etc. The environment plays an important role in our daily lives. The environment provides food, water, and shelter to all living beings. All human activities affect the environment directly and indirectly. The main things that are pollutants affecting the environment are air pollution, water pollution, and soil pollution. World Environment Day is observed every year on 5th June to make people aware of the environment. We can save the environment by saving water, planting trees, and using resources properly. It is our duty to keep the environment clean and safe.

Global Warming : A Concern for all

Anaya Aleem
Class - VI

Global warming is one of the long term problems causing a rise in the Earth's temperature due to human activities, mainly burning fossil fuels. This leads to the release of greenhouse gases like carbon dioxide, which trap heat in the atmosphere. Because of this, we see sea levels rising, glaciers melting, and more extreme weather changes. Creating awareness about global warming is important so people understand how their actions affect the planet. By spreading this knowledge in schools, communities, and online, we can encourage others to reduce pollution, save energy, and use eco-friendly alternatives. With everyone's efforts, we can protect the Earth for future generations.

Human Life and its Ultimate Goal

Mubashira
Class - VI

Humans are people who live all around the world. They are smart and can think, talk, and solve problems. Humans build homes, go to school, work, and take care of each other. They use tools and machines to make life easier. Humans have feelings like happiness, sadness, and love. They live in families and communities, and they support each other. People eat food, drink water, and need a good sleep to stay healthy. Humans are different in many ways, but they all share the same needs. By learning and working together, humans can make the world a better and safer place for everyone.

Plants and Animals

Zainab
Class - VI

Plants and animals are two of the most important creatures of the planet named Earth. Both plants and animals depend on each other for survival. Plants and animals vary in many ways, yet they need the same things.

Plants: Plants are present everywhere in our nearby surroundings. Some are big, some are small, some give fruits and vegetables, whereas others give shelter to some animals.

Animals : Animals are also present in this world with different kinds and shapes. Some of them eat plants and some don't.

Time

Time is one of the most valuable treasures we have. It cannot be seen or touched, yet it shapes every moment of our lives. Unlike money or possessions, once time is gone, it can never be regained. That is why wise people say, "Time and tide wait for none."

Every second, minute, and hour carries with it an opportunity to learn, to grow, to help others, and to become better than we were yesterday. But too often, we let time slip away in idleness or distractions, only to regret later what could have been achieved.

Managing time wisely is not about doing more; it is about doing what truly matters. Setting goals, prioritizing tasks, and staying disciplined help us make the best use of every day. A well-used day brings satisfaction; a wasted one brings regret.

As students and teachers, let us value our time and the time of others. When we respect time, we respect life itself. Remember, great success is not built in a single moment but it is the result of many small, consistent efforts made over time.

So, let us cherish each moment, for time once lost is lost forever. The clock is always ticking make sure it measures something meaningful.

Fairness

Fairness means treating everyone equally and giving each person the same opportunity without favoritism or discrimination. It is about being honest, just, and respectful in our actions and decisions. Fairness helps build trust and strong relationships, whether in school, at home, or in society. When people are treated fairly, they feel valued and respected. It also means listening to others. Following rules and not taking advantage of someone. Fairness is important because it creates peace, reduces conflict, and encourages teamwork. By being fair, we help to make the world a better place for everyone to live, learn, and grow together.

Honesty

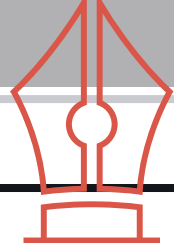

Honesty, always telling the truth and doing what is right, even when it is difficult. An honest person does not lie, cheat, or steal.

Honesty helps to build trust between people and shows good character. When we are honest, others can believe in us. It also makes us feel proud and peaceful inside. Being honest means admitting mistakes and taking responsibility for our actions. It is an important value either at school, at home, or in society. Honesty leads to strangers becoming friends and having a better relationship. By being honest, we help to create a fair, honest, and respectful world for all.

Dear Readers,
Assalamualikum !

Greetings of Peace. The 'Oasis Chronicle' is the first initiative we have planned to launch for publishing student's write-ups to hone their power of expression and imagination. We want to have a hands-on learning experience of effective communication for our dear students.

I have been welcomed by all since I arrived in Sultanate Of Oman, while joining the BSJ Community. The best part of my day is when I meet with the students either at assembly, morning welcoming, and shaking hands on the way in or taking some role in the learning of the classroom . It was my great pleasure to witness the newly added AS-level class at the BSJ as well as to congratulate O-level graduates of 2025.

In the meantime, we have various special week events such as "Deep Learning Celebration Program", "Health and Hygiene Week", "Spelling Bee Quiz", etc. The teachers are working hard to provide students with engaging learning opportunities.

It has been a positive start to my role, and I appreciate the support of all our honourable management committee's Presidents and Directors, dear students and their parents. I look forward to continuing to work with teachers, parents, and the wider school community. We hope you enjoy reading about the news/events in the Chronicle from the students perspective.
